

EMERGENCIAS

(Updated: January 1st, 2018)

The Editorial Board of Emergencias, with the approval of the Board of Directors of the Spanish Society of Emergency Medicine (SEMES), has made the following decisions affecting the processing of new manuscript submissions starting in January 2014:

Requirements for full acceptance of a manuscript in English: Emergencias reviews submissions in English by Spanish or non-Spanish authors. Starting January 1, 2014, manuscripts in English that receive a favorable review and are considered candidates for publication by members of the Editorial Board must meet the following additional requirements before final acceptance:

- ▶ Quality control of English usage in the manuscript: The author must arrange for a qualified translator or manuscript editor to assure that the English in the final manuscript is ready for publication; a translator or editor's qualification for this responsibility may be indicated by appropriate university training or affiliation, inclusion in an official list of approved language professionals, and/or membership in an appropriate professional association. When submitting the final manuscript, the author must provide the translator or editor's written endorsement of the quality of the English.
- ▶ Fee for translation into Spanish: On submission of the final version of the manuscript, the authors must cover the costs of translating the accepted English manuscript into Spanish, according to article type, as follows:
 - ▶ Original articles, reviews, special articles, and consensus papers: €1200
 - ▶ Brief research reports, case reports, editorials, and viewpoint articles: €800
 - ▶ Images and letters to the editor: €500
